

Hepatitis B Vaccination Acceptance or Declination Form

Hepatitis B is a serious disease that affects the liver. It is caused by the hepatitis B virus (HBV) and it spread through contact with the blood or other body fluids of an infected person. The vaccine to prevent Hepatitis B is usually given in a series of three shots. The vaccine series has proven to give long-term protection from HBV infection, possibly lifelong.

I understand that due to my occupational exposure to blood or other potentially infectious materials, I may be at risk of acquiring Hepatitis B Virus (HBV) infection.

Configure a Digital ID for signing

A Digital ID is required to create a digital signature. The most secure Digital IDs are issued by trusted Certificate authorities and are based on secure devices like smart card or token. Some are based on files.

You can also create a new Digital ID, but they provide a low level of identity assurance.

Select the type of Digital ID:

- Use a Signature Creation Device
Configure a smart card or token connected to your computer
- Use a Digital ID from a file
Import an existing Digital ID that you have obtained as a file
- Create a new Digital ID
Create your self-signed Digital ID

Select either option to protect your self-signed digital ID.

The first option will require your password every time you sign a document with your digital signature. The second option saves the digital signature to your computer.

For this example, the first option to “Save to File” was selected and continue.

Select the destination of the new Digital ID ✕

Digital IDs are typically issued by trusted providers that assure the validity of the identity. Self-signed Digital ID may not provide the same level of assurance and may not be accepted in some use cases.

Consult with your recipients if this is an acceptable form of authentication.
